Muscat energy storage box welding processing

Friction stir welding (FSW) is a group of solid phase processing (SPP) techniques that make it possible to join materials that are difficult or impossible to be welded together by conventional means. Friction stir processing is a technique that locally changes the metal properties for improved performance.

In this study, a novel TIP-TIG (TT) automatic welding method was used to weld the girth seams of liquefied natural gas (LNG) tanks composed of 9% nickel steel. The microstructure of the joints was characterized via electron microscopy and x-ray diffraction. The tensile strength and ductility of the joints were evaluated via tensile testing. The low ...
